RE:

David E. Wilkenson being falsely accused of plotting to murder, and John L. and Mildred B. Wilkenson being falsely accused of sexual and physical child abuse and conspiracy to kidnap—by some combination of Johanna Wilkenson, Daniel Wilkenson, Anita Vieira, and/or John Vieira. In the end, we have got to make the truth matter, especially in cases where government officials may try to escape personal accountability by covering up their incompetence and mistakes. It is our moral duty. You have all known Mildred, John, and David for decades. You have observed their behavior for decades. One of you was the full-time babysitter for David and Daniel as little children. You know their comparative personalities. Some of you are Mildred and John's immediate siblings. Do you really believe David is capable of murder? Have any of you ever seen even the slightest sign of violence in him? Do you really believe Mildred and John are capable of kidnapping and both sexual and physical child abuse? If not, I URGENTLY need you to give Mildred, John, and/or David (depending on which of them you know) written character references by return mail. Please send those written character references to me with the salutation "To whom it may concern" along with your name and address so the relevant authorities can contact you in case they need verification. Psychologist John Sorrick, Phd., author of Yours Or Mine? Determining The Best Interest Of The Child, A Christian Point Of View, an expert in child placement, has called David "the bravest man in Grand Junction." PLEASE, if you care anything at all about our family, if you care anything about little Ben and Toby—and I believe you do—don't just say "We're behind you but, we don't want to get involved." Be as brave as David, and help him stand up for his family. Following are the reasons:

Dear Family and Friends,

Please, in God's name, I beg you to read this letter, this anguished and desperate cry for your help, in its entirety. Publicly airing one's family's private dirty laundry is a humiliating process, but the very lives of my little nephews Ben and Toby depend on it. Everything in this letter is my personal opinion, protected as such by the 1st Amendment. I needed to say that for the sake of clarity/brevity in writing, and to prevent any lawyer or lawyer wannabe from muddying the clear waters of truth with any sort of slander/libel arguments. From a moral point of view, I promise you by all the principles I hold sacred, and by the honor of our extended "Baughman tribe," every word I am saying here is the absolute unvarnished truth. Let me also say I have spent my own money to go to one of the foremost expert psychologists in our part of
